

Petroleum Geology

Conveners: Kadir Gürgey & Zühtü Batı

The oil and gas industry has been, and undoubtedly will remain, an essential activity in the country's growth. It is therefore the intention of this session to gather national and foreign professionals, technicians, authorities and experts in the right venue to share knowledge, experiences and technological advances that will help improve the activities in the petroleum sector. The session will include several subjects that will allow people to review basic geological concepts pertaining to the formation of petroleum, geochemistry, basin modeling, petroleum systems, the exploration of oil and gas, and business aspects such as world energy resources estimation mainly focusing on the resources in the region and world.